

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

In issuing this pamphlet to their fellow-members, the Governing Committee have been actuated by various reasons. In the first place, they consider it, if not absolutely essential, at least highly expedient for the members of the club that its constitution, rules, and by-laws should thus be placed before them in a convenient and readable form. They believe, moreover, that the roll of membership, recorded in the following pages and gratifying alike in its length and personel, will not only serve as a species of introduction between members, but will likewise induce, among them and among the public at large, a juster appreciation of the prominent stand which the club has now attained among the kindred social organizations of New Orleans. That the present publication may contribute alike to its membership and to its prominence, is the belief and trust of the Committee. At all events, it is ever a pleasant task to record and commemorate the history of our successes, and to congratulate those who have divided with us the labors of an arduous beginning, and who must equally share with us the credit of a successful end.

Governing Committee.

A BRIEF RETROSPECT.

Considering the present flourishing condition of the NEW ORLEANS CHESS, CHECKERS AND WHIST CLUB, and viewing its rapid and unprecedented growth in the brief space of its existence—all denoting beyond doubt that it has supplied a want long felt in the community, it is hard to realize that its inception was almost a mere matter of accident. Yet such is actually the fact.

In the early summer of 1880, a few earnest devotees of Caïssa conceived the project of forming a small club and securing a room somewhere in the business portion of the city, which might serve as a convenient meeting-place during the summer and thus facilitate opportunities for whiling away the dog-days in the practice of their favorite game. They had witnessed the hapless endings of so many similar organizations that the permanence of the new attempt was hardly discussed, and its utmost existence was fixed at a period of not more than three months. The limited circle of those whose co-operation was assured gave promise of a dismally small income; recruits were few and far between; and the search for quarters, suitable for the purposes and within the expected resources of the proposed organization, was naturally a trying and laborious one. Indeed, after nearly a month's effort, the committee,* who had voluntarily assumed the task, had almost given up in despair, when, through the fortunate suggestion of a friend, application was made to Mr. Eug. Krost, of No. 128 Gravier street and, after some negotiation, a room over his saloon engaged on very liberal terms. The quarters, thus secured, though somewhat contracted, were very neat and cosy, and forthwith an initiatory meeting of those interested was called, drumming for recruits being energetically pursued in the interim.

On the evening of Thursday, July, 21st., the first meeting of the proposed club was held, and twenty-seven gentlemen, in person or by proxy, answered the roll—a somewhat larger total, after all, than had been expected. A considerable majority of these were chess-players, but the project of widening the scope of the club so as to include checkers and whist had already been happily suggested, and representatives of those games were not lacking. Mr. A. E. Blackmar, one of the veteran chessplayers of New Orleans, was called to the chair; definite organization was partially effected by the election of Messrs. Chas. A. Maurian and Jas. D. Séguin, as President and Secretary, respectively; and a committee was appointed to draft a Constitution to be reported at the next meeting, which was fixed for the following Saturday evening.

But having thus secured "a local habitation and a name," the club at once began to exhibit that vitality and expansiveness, which have ever since characterized it. A call of the roll at the ensuing meeting showed that the membership had nearly doubled in the brief interval, and its history from that period on is simply the recital of unvarying increase and prosperity. After remaining until October, 20th. in its original quarters, the club removed to No. 168 Common street, with a membership of about 110. On December, 31st., another removal was made to No. 166, next door, and within a few weeks afterwards (January, 24th., 1881), the Governing Committee notified the members that the roll had reached 150 names, and that future entrants would be subject to the initiation fee of $2.00, recently incorporated in the constitution. About this period, many even of the most hopeful members expressed the belief that the development of the club had reached its climax; but they were destined to an agreeable disappointment. In the early part of February, the club, having secured a lease (with privilege of renewal) of its present elegant quarters, on the 10th. of that month took formal possession of the new premises, and forthwith began an era of expansion and prosperity, surpassing everything in its previous history and exceeding the most sanguine anticipations of its well-wishers.

To particularize all that has since occurred and been done would be more than space will permit. Suffice it to say that within the little over four months intervening to the present date, the membership has again nearly doubled, now closely approximating 300 names; and with the consequent increase in the revenues of the club, many additional improvements and conveniences have been added. Numerous articles of furniture, pictures, hangings, etc., have been bought, and much repairing and refitting done. In the whist-rooms additional tables have been supplied, until eight parties can now be accommodated. The old chess tables have been neatly remodelled, renewed and fitted with pockets for the men, the former painted chess fields replaced by elegant inlaid boards, and the number of tables increased to ten, making, together with its other appliances and comforts, what is admitted to be the finest chess-room in the country. The two billiard tables have been put in first-class order and are placed at the disposal of members at an almost nominal charge, this being, moreover, the only case in which any tax is laid on the amusements of members, even cards being furnished gratis. Additional facilities have been provided for members fond of reading, and on the files and reading table of the club are to be found all the local papers, the principal illustrated weeklies, many of the leading foreign journals, and nearly all the principal English and American magazines. It may be added that this last department being one upon which the management of the club look with special interest, it is intended to constantly increase its scope and develop its facilities in the future.

Briefly it may be said that nothing, reasonably within the resources of the club, has been knowingly left undone or unsupplied which could add to the comfort of the members or the attractiveness of the rooms. The Governing Committee, in all their movements, have constantly borne in mind the peculiar nature, the proclaimed objects and the necessary methods of the club. Founded distinctly as not a merely social organization, but primarily for the cultivation of the elegant and scientific games supplying its name; designed not as a place of constant resort, but only as a convenient and attractive centre for those who may (if but occasionally) delight in their practice; and based upon a charge to the individual member of dues unequalled in smallness—the Committee have ever striven so to direct their efforts as to fulfill these fundamental intentions and methods; in a word to render the club as highly attractive a place of resort as possible for its members and yet at so very moderate a charge as to make every individual feel that even a semi-occasional use of its privileges affords more than compensation for the trivial expense involved.

That this plan, faithfully adhered to, has proven a success, the Committee feel great satisfaction in believing from the unprecedented growth and prosperity of the club. A glance over the long roll of membership in the succeeding pages and an inspection of its per- sonel will demonstrate that the club has definitely assumed a prominent position among the established social organizations of our city; and its past history and present condition alike point to its assured permanence. But the Committee, though naturally more than pleased with the success that has attended their labors to date, do not propose to slacken their efforts or exhortations in the future. With the space and facilities at hand, and considering the small percentage of the average attendance in all similar organizations, it may be laid down as indisputable that this club can never become too large. Indeed, even were its present membership doubled, there would be no crowding—only a larger and more pleasant average attendance. The Committee, therefore, again appeal to the members, individually and collectively, not to relax their efforts in this direction, but to press onward, stimulated by the reflection that, as the club now is, every friend recruited into our ranks is far more favored than favoring. They beg them to remember that the effort of each individual in this matter is the basis of the success of the whole; and that as the membership of the club expands, so rises its importance in the community, so widens the scope of its benefits and so increases the certainty of its permanence.

EVENTS SINCE THE FOUNDING OF THE CLUB.

The principal occurrences in the history of the club have just been outlined, but there are some others which should be briefly noticed.

A THIRD GENERAL MEETING

was held January, 6th., 1881, at which the terms of the officers of the club, before then of indefinite duration, were fixed at one year, and the regular annual meeting set for the first Thursday of every January thereafter. An initiation fee of $2.00, exigible after the roll had reached 150 names, was established; the first, and, it is trusted, the only assessment in the history of the club was levied, to purchase additional furniture; and the question, whether games for money-stakes should be allowed, was overwhelmingly decided in the negative.

TOURNAMENTS.

Three tournaments, one of chess and two of whist, have been held since the establishment of the club; and it is intended, if possible, to supplement these with a checkers tourney at an early day.

The chess tournament was inaugurated August, 21st., 1880, with eight entrants, but owing principally to the laxity of the rules as to the regularity of parties, did not prove the success hoped. None of the contestants played out the full quota of their games—some not even half, and the managing committee, after giving notice that only players who had played at least ten games by February, 1st., 1881, would participate in the final count, were at length constrained to award the first prize to Mr. Jas. D. Séguin, with a score of $7\frac{1}{2}$ games won and $2\frac{1}{2}$ lost, and the second prize, to Mr. James Wibray, who had won $6\frac{1}{2}$ and lost $5\frac{1}{2}$. It is to be trusted that the next tourney, now so soon to be inaugurated, may yield a more satisfactory history.

The whist tournaments have been more successful. The first, held in the latter part of October and early part of November last, was completed in the brief space of about three weeks. Seven couples entered, the prizes being eventually carried off by Messrs. Chas. Macmurdo and G. R. Barton.

The second tournament, with entries of no less than seventeen couples, is now under way and has proved a most interesting affair. Considering the possibilities still involved, it might as yet seem invidious even to suggest the names of the fortunate couples to whom skill and fate appear to have assigned the best chances for the three sets of elegant prizes* involved.

CAPT. MACKENZIE'S VISIT.

Probably the most interesting incident in the history of the club is to be found in the brief visit paid by the celebrated chess player, Capt. Geo. H. Mackenzie, who was its guest from February, 28th. to March, 10th., last. No event has for years excited so wide-spread an interest and excitement in the chess circles of our city, and it is certain that the wonderful and masterly playing of Capt. Mackenzie fully justified it. The club is to be congratulated that it possesses two chess knights, Messrs. Chas. A. Maurian and James McConnell, who were able to make even games on even terms with the distinguished visitor,† but the other members, with whom he played, notwithstanding the heavy odds usually received by them, in general were overwhelmingly defeated. During his stay,

*These have been for sometime on exhibition at E. Lillienthal's on Canal street

†With Mr. Maurian, his score was 4 games won, 4 lost and 2 drawn; with Mr. McConnell, 4 won, 4 lost and 1 partie not finished.

Capt. Mackenzie gave several exhibitions of peripetetic chess, so-called, which excited much comment in the public press, and were all remarkable displays of his wonderful faculty of rapid perception and combination.

· MR. BLOCK'S GIFT.

In conclusion, mention must not be omitted of a very valuable donation to the club, in the latter part of February, from one of its honorary members, Mr. E. Block. This is a set of Swiss chessmen in human figures, exquisitely executed to represent various costumes, ancient and modern, of the different cantons of Switzerland. The minuteness, fidelity and elegance of the carving is simply extraordinary—each piece is, in itself, actually a perfect statuette, and it requires no little study and reflection to duly appreciate the wonderful artistic skill displayed in every detail. As an object of art of its peculiar kind, it is undoubtedly without a rival in the city, perhaps, indeed, in the whole country; and it would be difficult to conceive a gift more unique, or an ornament more appropriate for the rooms of the club.

CONSTITUTION.

(As amended at General Meeting of January, 6th., 1881.)

ARTICLE I.

Name.

The name of this organization shall be THE NEW ORLEANS CHESS, CHECKERS AND WHIST CLUB.

ARTICLE II.

Objects.

Its object is to provide a common meeting place for the lovers of Chess, Checkers and Whist, and in every proper way to promote the knowledge, encourage the development and maintain the standard of those games.

ARTICLE III.

Officers. How Elected.

The officers of the club shall consist of a president, first and second vice-presidents, a secretary and a treasurer. Of these, the president, vice-presidents and secretary shall be elected at a general meeting and by a majority vote of the club, and the treasurer as hereinafter provided.

ARTICLE IV.

President and Secretary.

The powers of the president shall be to call general meetings of the club, to preside thereover, to appoint such committees as shall be hereafter specified, and to act as ex officio chairman of the same in the instances hereafter indicated.

The duties of the secretary shall be to notify members (upon proper authorization) of general meetings of the club, to keep the minutes of such meetings, and of the special committees hereinafter specified, to preserve the rolls and records of the club, and to do generally, on behalf of the club, all that his title implies.

ARTICLE V.

Governing Committee. How Elected. Vacancies. Quorum. Duties. Powers. Elect Treasurer.

There shall be a Governing Committee of six members, of which the president of the club shall be ex officio chairman. They shall be elected at a general meeting and by a majority vote of the club, and shall serve for a term of one year from date of their election. In case of any vacancy, occurring in their body during their term of office, the president of the club shall appoint to fill the same, subject only to confirmation by the members of the committee. Four of their members shall be a quorum for the transaction of business.

Their duties shall be to manage generally the business of the club; to transact its financial affairs; and to provide such by-laws and rules for its regulation as they may deem necessary.

They shall have authority to receive or collect the dues of members; to appoint one of their number as their common depository, who shall be, ex officio, treasurer of the club; to confirm or reject nominations by the president made to fill the vacancies occurring in their body; and in general shall possess plenary powers to carry out and fulfill the duties above indicated.

But their action shall, in all cases, be subject to revision or annulment by a majority vote of the club, at a general meeting.

(Amended, General Meeting, January, 6th., 1881.)

ARTICLE VI.

Membership Committee. How Appointed. Duties.

There shall be a Membership Committee, to consist of five members privately appointed by the president of the club, to whom, after the adoption of this constitution, all applications for membership shall be referred. They shall report their decision upon all such to the president, who shall direct the secretary to notify the applicant of the nature thereof.

But their action shall, in all cases, be subject to revision or annulment, by a majority vote of the club at a general meeting.

ARTICLE VII.

Applications for Membership.

All applications for membership must be endorsed by at least two members of the club.

ARTICLE VIII.

Dues. Initiation Fees.

The dues of members of the club shall be seventy-five cents per month, payable in advance; provided, that the members, enrolled after the membership of the club shall have reached one hundred and fifty members, shall pay an initiation fee of Two Dollars, each.

(Amended, General Meeting, January, 6th., 1881.)

ARTICLE IX.

Members' privileges as to introductions.

Members shall be privileged to introduce in the club-rooms strangers and non-residents of the city. Residents of the city may be once so introduced for the purpose of viewing the rooms.

ARTICLE X.

Money Stakes.

No games for money stakes shall be allowed in the club.

(New Article, General Meeting, January, 6th., 1881.)

ARTICLE XI.

General Meetings. Elections at such. President to fill vacancies.

A general meeting of the club shall be held on the first Thursday of every January. At such general meeting, the elections for officers of the club and for members of the Governing Committee shall be held, and all officers, so elected, shall serve for the term of one year from date of their election or until their successors are elected; provided, that the president of the club shall have power to fill all vacancies occurring in the interim, subject only to confirmation by the Governing Committee.

(New Article, General Meeting, January, 6th., 1881.)

ARTICLE XII.

Proxies.

At general meetings of the club, no member shall be allowed to vote more than ten proxies.

(New Article, General Meeting, January, 6th., 1881.)

ARTICLE XIII.

Powers of a Majority of the Club. Expulsions. President's duty as to calling General Meetings.

All officers may be removed, all committees altered or dissolved, and all laws, by-laws or regulations changed or annulled by a majority vote of the club at a general meeting; and by a two-thirds vote, any member may be expelled for just cause. Moreover, it shall be the duty of the president at any time to call such general meetings upon the written petition of a majority of the club.

BY-LAWS.

I.

In the case of members who have failed to pay their dues for two successive months by the date when the second month's dues are payable, and who, after a notification of their delinquency from the treasurer, still fail to pay the amounts, the treasurer shall report the names of all such delinquents, to the Governing Committee at their next meeting;

If, after a further special notice from the Governing Committee and a delay to the end of the current club month (when a third month's dues accrue against them), they still remain delinquent, they shall be suspended from all privileges of membership, but with power to restore themselves to good standing by a payment of all delinquent amounts before the end of the current club month;

They shall be so notified by the secretary, and a copy of this resolution mailed to each;

If, after the said delay, their three months' dues still remain unpaid, they shall be finally dropped from the rolls of the club; and

A plain list of all members so dropped shall be kept posted at the club.

(Adopted, Governing Committee Meeting, Aug., 6th., 1880.)

II.

All complaints as to the management of the rooms must be made, in writing, to the Governing Committee.

(Adopted, Governing Committee Meeting, Nov., 9th., 1880.)

III.

No resignation will be accepted unless the member sending in his resignation has settled all his dues.

(Adopted, Governing Committee Meeting, Nov., 9th., 1880.)

IV.

On and after April 21st., 1881, no candidate will be admitted to membership under twenty-one years of age. (Adopted, Governing Committee Meeting, April, 20th., 1881.)

V.

Members, who have been suspended, and who desire to reinstate themselves in good standing, must pay the full amount of dues delinquent at date of suspension. (Adopted, Governing Committee Meeting, April, 20th., 1881.)

VI.

Members, failing to pay cash for any liability incurred in the club rooms, must, before leaving the premises, give to the porter their due-bills for the amount owed. Such due-bills must be paid within two days after presentation for collection, under penalty of immediate suspension, ipso-facto, from the privileges of membership.

In case of such suspension, the Secretary is instructed to at once notify the member so suspended. (Adopted, Governing Committee Meeting, May, 27th., 1881.)

RULES.

(Adopted, Governing Committee Meeting, July, 24th., 1880.)

I.

No games, except CHESS, CHECKERS AND WHIST, will be tolerated in the club under any circumstances.

II.

Members must not indulge in loud talking, whistling or singing.

III.

Bystanders must refrain from interruptions of, or comments upon games in progress.

IV.

All refreshments ordered must be paid for, cash, to the porter on delivery.

V.

Cards, other than those provided by the club, must be at the expense of members ordering them.

VI.

Journals, books and papers, furnished by the club, must not be mutilated or removed from the rooms.

VII.

Members shall have access to the club at all hours until 12 o'clock P. M., at which hour the rooms will be closed peremptorily, and any and all games in progress must cease. Members violating this rule will be fined One Dollar, each, if they remain past 12 or up to 1 o'clock, and an additional fine of Ten Dollars, each, if they remain past 1 o'clock. The porter is required to remain in attendance, and to report to the Secretary the names of members liable to these fines, and the amount thereof.

The Committee will, whenever circumstances require, suspend the above rule and so notify members through the Secretary.

(Amended, Governing Committee Meeting, March, 23d., 1881.)

VIII.

Members will be charged 30 cents per hour, while using the billiard tables, or proportionately for fractions thereof. (Members must settle with the porter immediately after they have ceased playing; the porter is required to mark down the time, and is instructed never to allow the tables to be used for practicing, unless charged for at the regular price.

Members or visitors, tearing the cloth, or otherwise injuring the tables or cues, will be held liable for the cost of repairs and for such damages as, in the judgment of the Governing Committee, will be just and reasonable.

(Adopted, Governing Committee meeting, March, 23d. 1881.)

RULES OF MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE

AS TO

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

(Adopted May, 15th., 1881.)

I.

Applications for membership must be signed by the applicant, or by some member of the club, in good standing and authorized by the applicant to sign for him. The full name and business address of the applicant must be given.

II.

Every application must be endorsed by at least two members of the club, in good standing.

III.

When properly signed and endorsed, and before reference to the Committee, every application shall be posted for the full space of one week upon the bulletin board of the club. During this time, it shall be the privilege of any member of the club, who may object to the admission of any applicant so posted, to forward his objections, in writing, to the Committee through the secretary of the club. All such communications will be held in strictest confidence and will receive most careful consideration.

IV.

A ballot of members shall be had upon any application, whenever asked of the Committee, in writing, by not less than three members in good standing. Such ballots shall be effected by the private deposit of white and black balls (signifying yea and nay, respectively), by not less than thirty members, in a ballot-box kept securely locked by the secretary of the club.

V.

So soon as a ballot is asked, as in the preceding Rule, the Committee will at once instruct the secretary to post a notice of the fact. Members, desiring to vote in such ballot, must do so in presence of an officer of the club, whose duty it shall be to see that the member voting shall register his name, in a book kept for that purpose, as having voted on the application in question. Such ballot must be completed within fifteen days from date of the secretary's notice thereof. After the expiration of that time, the secretary, at a stated hour, shall open the box in the presence of the president or one of the vice-presidents of the club, and shall count the votes, verifying them by the number of names registered. The result shall at once be announced. Whenever four or more blackballs are found in the box, the Committee will reject the application in question.

VI.

The endorsers of any applicant, upon whose application a ballot shall have been asked, shall be privileged to withdraw the application at any time before the expiration of the two weeks prescribed for balloting.
